

THE FROST SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND THE CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA TO PRESENT EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

JANUARY 16 – 26, 2007 AT UM'S CORAL GABLES CAMPUS

Coral Gables, FL – The Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music will partner with The Cleveland Orchestra in presenting master classes, seminars and special music performances during the orchestra's inaugural two-week residency in Miami. These educational programs are an important part of both organizations' commitment to nurture the development of the next generation of musicians. All events taking place at the Frost School of Music, located on the University of Miami's Coral Gables campus, are free and open to the public.

As part of this exciting new partnership with the Frost School of Music, Cleveland Orchestra musicians will conduct new-music reading sessions, which will afford Frost School of Music composition students the unique opportunity to hear their works played by some of the world's most accomplished professional musicians.

The Frost School of Music's Maurice Gusman Concert Hall is located at 1314 Miller Drive. The Victor Clarke Recital Hall in the L. Austin Weeks Center for Recording and Performance, Broby Hall, Fillmore Hall, Nancy Green Hall, Pick Music Building, and Volpe classrooms are located at 5501 San Amaro Drive. For more information on campus events, please contact (305) 284-2241 or visit www.music.miami.edu.

Additionally, as part of The Cleveland Orchestra's series of concerts at Carnival Center for the Performing Arts, more than 50 members of the University of Miami Frost Chorale will join the Master Chorale of South Florida in the Orchestra's performances of Beethoven Symphony No. 9 on January 19 and 20, 2007. Dr. Jo-Michael Scheibe, Professor and Program Director of Choral Studies at the University of Miami, directs both the Master Chorale of South Florida and the University of Miami Frost Chorale. For more information on The Cleveland Orchestra's Miami concert series and to purchase tickets, please visit the Carnival Center's website at www.carnivalcenter.org or call the Carnival Center box office at (305) 949-6722.
